Many times before I have tried talking to the birds that landed on my shoulder and to the mice scurrying in the fields. It seemed everyone was in a hurry. As soon as they heard my voice, the birds flew away flapping their wings. The mice ran off in a hurry. If they had listened to me, I would have told them all about my dear friend.

Here's my friend! He sent me this photo in his last letter. He wrote from Mexico. I still can't believe he went all the way to North America. Look at the colors of his clothes! And that hat... And what about the food in his hand... It's called a taco. It's Mexico's famous dish. Those who taste local sauces and spices there can't sit still, they dance for hours.

This photo is sent with a letter from three months ago. This place is Egypt. He wrote a lot about the Nile. He was very surprised to learn that it's the second-longest river in the world. He was especially amazed by the pyramids.

One of the pyramids he saw was the Great Pyramid of Giza. It's one of the Seven Wonders of the World. Of course, he also loved falafel. He couldn't get enough of this delicious dish made from chickpeas and beans.
