There once was a tiny cat living in a very beautiful house. Her owners loved her very much. One morning, just like every morning, her owners got up and went to work, but this time, they forgot to feed the cat.

The cat woke up and looked around the house but there was no cat food. Hours passed, and the cat became very hungry.

A little while later the hungry cat thought, "I can go outside and find something to eat right away and then come right back home."

Until today the cat had never left its home, but out of curiosity she began to walk. She walked, and walked, and walked, and found herself in a forest. While walking around the forest, looking for food, she heard a sound saying "Tweet, tweet, tweet." Let's see what animal this is?

When she looked up, what did she see? A tiny sparrow.
The cat called up to the sparrow, "Hello little sparrow,
I am so hungry and very thirsty. Can you help me?"
The sparrow said, "I have no food, but if you are thirsty I can show you the way to the creek."

After thanking the sparrow, the cat followed it. When they came to the creek, the cat was very happy and lapped up the water. The cat said good bye to the sparrow and continued on her way. A little while later, she started to feel weak from hunger and the cat just wanted to rest. Just as she was about to fall asleep, a sound came from the bushes, "Woof, woof, woof!" Let's see what animal is making this noise?
