Astronot Mevsimi

Dear Children,,

Spring, summer, autumn, winter...
There are four seasons in the world. But each person lives their own season.
In my season, love-filled letters rain down from the sky into my heart. When I gather them, my pen and my soul fill with excitement. And how lucky I am to have kind people by my side who turn my words into books for you. They share in my excitement every step of the way.

I am deeply, sincerely grateful to each and every one of them.

And you .....

The lines in Astronaut Season are for you.

Stay with love and light...

BOLİMBO'NUN
MAĞARASI

It was the last days of fall.
Bolimbo the red bear heard winter's call.
He had to head to his cozy den,
But first he had to yawn again and again.

But he was different from the other bears.
Maybe he was right to shout, "I don't waaaant to hibernate!"
He was impatient about everything, and curious about everything, too.

He wandered the forest, enjoying the night,
As stars filled the sky with shimmering light.
Bolimbo spotted two friends in that starry array;
The Great Bear and Little Bear lighting the way.

Just as he turned back toward his cave,
He heard a rustling sound.
An astronaut landed among the trees,
His parachute caught in the branches with ease.
