For PELİN and DEFNE...

and for all the kids who never stop dreaming...

–Walt DİSNEY–

Far, far away at the very edge of the world... all the way from the North Pole...

"Heyyy! Hello! Can anybody hear me?

That was Atlas's voice.
But how did he end up at the North Pole?
And what could he possibly want from us?
What kind of adventure was Atlas chasing this time?
And then he called out again:
"I'm Atlas, I'm seven years old. I fold papers, and I dive into adventures!"
Atlas was such a big dreamer.

He was his mother's biggest dream.
But Atlas's greatest dream was to travel all around the world.
Adventurer, dreamer, traveler... Those were the perfect words to describe Atlas!

Outside, the rain was pouring down and thunder was booming. Meanwhile, Atlas was happily turning pages of his travel magazines in his room. His eyes grew wide with wonder; he couldn't believe what he was seeing. Narwhals with long horns, polar bears, penguins, giant clams, huge icebergs, sunken ships, and so much more! Atlas already knew about polar bears and penguins, but he was seeing a narwhal for the first time.
