Deep in the forest there lived a little tortoise. Like all the other tortoises, he carried his house on his back, and he slept in it.

Every night, the little tortoise's mother read him a story before bed.

One night, just as the little tortoise was about to fall asleep, a little monkey came down from the branches of a tree above and took the tortoise's sleep and ran away with it.

The little tortoise was sleepy, but no matter what his mother did, he could not fall asleep. "I want to sleep with you," he said to his mother.

His mother explained to the little tortoise that it wasn't possible, because tortoises have to sleep in their own shells.
